BHAIRAB GANGULY COLLEGECOURSE INTRODUCTION:

We all know that in India GST has already been introduced for bringing about same indirect tax rate in India on July, 2017. GST can be called as comprehensive indirect tax. GST has subsumed 17 indirect taxes levied by the State Governments and the Central Government under the previous indirect tax regime. GST has integrated various taxes on goods and services into one unified tax. As per Article 366 (12A) of the Indian Constitution, Goods and Services Tax is nothing but tax on supply of goods or services, or both, barring taxes on supply of alcoholic liquor for human consumption. Moreover, GST is not levied on petroleum products. It is an indirect tax levied on supply of goods and services, except on exempted goods and service as specified by the authority. Since the term used in Article 366(12A) is 'supply' and not 'sale'. As a result, transfer of stock, branch transfers will also now get covered under GST. States can also impose tax on sale, within the state of alcoholic liquor for human consumption and on petroleum products.

Course Introduction:

- The concept of Rural Tourism is acquiring new dimensions with the passage of time. However, in India, it has always existed in some forms as every Indian has roots in some village or another and they often keep returning to their roots. Now, of course, feeling bottled up by the chaos in urban areas, the growing desire to take a break and relax in the pristine surroundings of the village is growing.
- Stunning landscapes, the virgin beauty of mother nature, the colourful and captivating culture of rural areas compel the travellers to head for Indian villages where they find the real essence of India. That is the reason the tourism industry is shifting its paradigm to Rural Tourism. It is the need of the hour.

Course Introduction:

This Course Journalism and Media Production is dedicated to storytelling—its forms, techniques, and technologies. We offer individual courses on the genres, including news, features, and Corporate Public Relation; narrative journalism/creative nonfiction; documentary. In this course stresses convergent media, interdisciplinary, and the underlying research and writing skills that connect us as journalists, documentarians, and filmmakers.

The program looks at storytelling as a means to both inform and entertain. The ability to analyse and interpret work in a specific medium and to view it within a variety of interpretive contexts provides a foundation for all forms of storytelling, from news reportage to feature films.

While we offer individual courses in each medium, all courses include analytical components and assignments, and all stress the interdependency of theory and practice, form, and content. 'Journalism and Media Production' makes current and emerging technologies available to all its students, emphasizing these technologies, not as ends in themselves but as tools of intellectual and creative expression.

Course Outcomes:

- Students learn about various types of writing for Print, Audio, Audio Visual and others. They understand the nuances of writing for various formats and develop knowledge to write thought provoking editorials. The students to get a platform to express their talent in reporting, writing, interviewing and other allied areas.

COURSE INTRODUCTION:

Yoga has always been an integral part of Indian culture. It is an invaluable gift of India's ancient tradition which is 5,000 years old. It is an ancient science and is a holistic approach to health and well-being. Yoga is a way of living that aims towards 'a healthy mind in a healthy body'. It stimulates a positive energy in our body, carries the nervous system to a more balanced state and detaches oneself from worldly stress. Starting college or university is an important time in our life. It might be the first time you have had to take care of yourself and at the same time, you are embarking on a new course which will be mentally challenging. Yoga is a perfect complement to your studies.

COURSE OUTCOME

Some of the benefits of practicing yoga include:

- Stress management
- Balance
- Positive mental health
- Health habits
- Quitting smoking
- Weight control

CHAPTER 1 - COURSE INTRODUCTION

CHAPTER 2 - COURSE OUTCOME

CHAPTER 3 - TRAINING MODULES

CHAPTER 1

COURSE INTRODUCTION

The in-silico drug designing is a technique which involves a lot of techniques starting from drug screening to repurposing. Development of new drug is a very costly and time consuming laboratory method as well but with the help of computer based in-silico methods and gene expression analysis, the drug repurposing and drug designing costs have drastically bring brought down and made the drugs taylor made for each person.

Bioinformatics based drug designing methods are now one of the most important tool and the revenue generated from the drug industry is estimated around 334 billion US dollars (Source - Statista: Domestic and international revenue of the U.S. pharmaceutical industry between 1975 and 2021). So it is evident from the above facts that with the lowering of mortality rates around the world due to the improved medical assistance, age related diseases are on the rise and this should be addressed with proper care and with the help of drugs.

CHAPTER 2

COURSE OUTCOME

- 1. Students will learn the basics of protein data bank and how to handle protein data from PDB.
- 2. Students are expected to learn details of structures of drugs and how to get their structures using open webservers like DrugBank, PubChem etc.
- 3. Students will learn how to perform energy minimization of protein and ligands
- 4. Students will be learning how to perform in-silico molecular docking.
- 5. Gene expression analysis using openly available microarray data will be taught to students together with the identification of hub genes for drug designing.

CHAPTER 3

TRAINING MODULES

Module 1 (4 credits)

- Identifying neurodegenerative disease and studying its present status on its management
- General idea of microarray
- Downloading microarray data from the Gene Expression Omnibus database.
- Cleaning the data and arranging the dataset based on p-value.

Module 2 (4 credits)

- Basics of STRING database and Cytoscape software.
- Creation of protein-protein interaction network using STRING database
- Identification of hub genes from interaction network using Cytoscape software.

Module 3 (4 credits)

- Identification of node gene
- Introduction to drug databases (PubChem, DrugBank etc)
- Mining of drug databases based on the node gene

TRAINING MODULES (CONT)

Module 4 (8 credits)

COURSE INTRODUCTION:

- The culture of ornamental fishes is called as Aquariculture. Ornamental fish culture is the culture of attractive, colourful fishes of various characteristics, which are reared in a confined aquatic system. Farmers and hobbyists mainly grow it. Ornamental fishes are also known as living jewels. There are more than 30,000 fish species reported around the world, of this about 800 belong to ornamental fishes.
- Profitability of an ornamental fish-exporting unit works out to be highly lucrative, provided the activity is taken up on scientific lines with appropriate marketing strategies. The ornamental fish culture and breeding activity is possible not only on large scale but on a small-scale basis as well. It provides good opportunity even to small entrepreneurs.

Two of the major areas which require urgent attention are (a) in-house breeding of selected species of marine ornamental fishes which are in great demand to release the pressure on wild capture and (b) scheme for educating/training of fisher folk in more skilled and specialized techniques of collecting, handling, sorting and transport of ornamental fish which could revolutionize the fishery industry to greater extent.
